With the holiday season quickly approaching many stars came down to the Los Angeles Regional Food Bank in Downtown Los Angeles on Saturday to donate their time packaging boxes with food and drinks to be shipped to senior citizens this week. The American Women of Radio and Television partnered with General Mills to kick off the "Season for Sharing" event. The celebrities that were on hand donating their time include Chelsie Hightower (Dancing With The Stars), Meaghan Jette Martin (Camp Rock), Drew Seeley (Another Cinderella Story), Boo Boo Stewart (Twilight Saga: Eclipse), Fivel Stewart, Gayla Johnson, Maureen McCormick (The Brady Bunch) and many more! The event began at 8:30 am and ended around noon. Check out some of the moments we captured during the event and be sure to keep checking back to see our video interviews with Chelsea, Meaghan, Boo Boo, Fivel, Drew, Gayla and Maureen! For every dollar you donate that feeds four people! So visit the official LA Regional Food Bank website to find out how YOU too can help!
